DETAILED ACTION

1. This communication is in response to amendment filed 7/18/08.
2. Applicant's Remarks concerning 35 USC 112 (second) rejection of claims 99-163 are acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Response to Arguments

3. Oath/Declaration

Claim rejection under 35 USC 251 due to defective oath has been withdrawn.

4. Applicant's detailed account of the explanation of support for the new claims outlined on pp. 20-30 is acknowledged.
5. Claims 99-163 have been entered.

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to rejection of claims 99-163 under 35 USC 112 (Second) has been considered but are not deemed persuasive.

Claim 99 as a representative claim was rejected under 35 USC 112 (second) for omitting essential steps such omission amounting to a gap between the steps. The examiner has cited MPEP §2172.01 as basis for this type of rejection.

The applicant asserts that there is nothing incomplete in claim 99, or any other claims in the application citing MPEP §2172.01 which states that that "a claim which omitted matter disclosed to be essential to the invention as described in the specification or in other statements of record may be rejected...". The applicant argues that "There is nothing in the specification of this application that is disclosed to the essential which is not found in the claims. The rejection does not contradict this assertion. “

The examiner respectfully disagrees with the applicant that there is nothing in the specification of this application that is disclosed to the essential which is not found in the claims.

The specification teaches "cell phone financial transaction procedure" starting at col. 2 L 17.

a wireless device is used to transfer funds between accounts belonging to the same entity/person or to an account belonging to another party (col.2 L 19-22),

Function as a Wallet user first enters a unique function code on the key pad of the device to identify the type of the transaction or activity desired and pressing SEND. (col. 2 L 35-38)

in this case the CPU identifies the desired transaction and determines the desired transaction and involves a default amount. (col. 2 L 38-42)

Function: payment involving a variable amount (the examiner interprets this embodiment as desired funds transfer of claim 99)

As disclosed herein the transaction involves a variable amount entered by the user when prompted by the CPU (col. 2 L 45-49) and selection of user account to determined by the user (col. 2 L 50-55).

Therefore, it is respectfully pointed out that the claimed invention is deficient in that it omits the following essential step(s).

(1) fails to point out that the central processing unit (CPU) determines the types of user account to access for the type of the transaction (either default or user input unique account code)

(2) fails to point out that the authorizing and determining source account steps are performed by the CPU

(3) fails to recite determining or specifying account code to which the funds are to be transferred (see col. 2 L 66- col. 3 L 5) from the source account.

(4) The transaction cannot be complete unless there are sufficient funds in the identified source account. Therefore, the completion of the funds transfer must be preceded by verification that the source account has sufficient funds to cover the desired funds transfer.

In conclusion the aforementioned deficiencies are within the scope of and consistent with the disclosed invention. According 35 USC 112 (second) rejection of prior action (and supplemented by this action) is maintained.

Furthermore, the applicant is reminded that the deficiencies outlined above pertain to claim 99 and only serves as example. Other independent claims reciting similar deficiencies must also be amended correspondingly.

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
